1. " Risk comes from not knowing what you are doing."
2. " Honesty is a very expensive gift. Don't expect it from cheap people."
3. " The most important investment you can make is in yourself."
4. " You only have to do a very few things right in your life so long as you don't do too many things wrong."
5. " Rule No. 1: Never lose money. Rule No. 2: Never forget rule No. 1"

Warren Buffet does not spend much time on social media. He dedicates a significant part of his time to reading, which he considers to be the key to success. What's unique about Warren Buffett's social media presence is that it's slim. In twitter till now he has 1.41 M followers and his tweets are just 9. He also does not check his email very often, besides he still uses his flip phone. For communicate with other stakeholder he uses other methods like:

1. Jot down notes, not a draft
2. Be more energetic
3. Say the other person's name
4. Use confidence-boosting body language
5. Make sure to listen Warren Buffett doesn't follow the rules, his leadership style is as risky as it is successful.

This leadership made him one of the best investors of all time and leadership style has made him the third richest person in the world. Buffett's board service has almost always involved companies where Berkshire owns a significant stake. Examples: Cap Cities(1986-1996) The Coca-Cola Co (1989-2006) Gillette (1989–2003) Kraft Heinz (2013–present) Salomon Brothers (1987–1997) US Airways (1993–1995) and The Washington post (1974–1986 and 1996–2011).

Food empire

Mars has teamed up with Warren Buffett, to create a global leader in confectionery by swallowing the chewing gum manufacturer Wrigley in an agreed takeover worth $23bn. Last year was rough for Buffett's dealmaking. Berkshire was bested in its attempt to buy Oncor Electric Delivery Co. Kraft Heinz Co., which Buffett helped assemble through acquisitions, failed in its effort to purchase Unilever. If I would have opportunity to work with the 3rd richest person in the world i would to work with him because he has been learning from childhood so he have much knowledge about everything. besides I would like him to be my mentor because my dream is to become millionaire and he is one of them, so I can learn from him and accomplish my dream.
