

Lebron named gloria marie james gave birth

Business, Career

LeBron Raymone James NBA Accomplishments On this day December 30th, 1984, a woman named Gloria Marie James gave birth to a 7lb baby boy. This babyeventfully bloomed into being an elite high school basketball player, who was oneof the youngest players drafted in 2003 by the Cleveland Cavaliers. Who mightthis phenom be you ask ... LeBron Raymone James.

As, soon as LeBron Raymone James enteredthe league everyone put a chip on his shoulder. But no, he wasn't cocky orflashy. I mean, ok he was showing abilities no rookie has ever performed. Butyou couldn't blame him for that. You can see that this kid from Akron, Ohio, was ready for what was coming. From the first preseason games, to the firstregular season game, he was projected to be great. As a 6'7, 210 pound athleticmonster. He was already recognized for something great.

With much background ofa successful football player, he had natural instincts and heart. As, therookie of the year runner up and the youngest player at the time to average20. 0 pts. And 5. 9 assist per game.

Soon became the first member of the ClevelandCavaliers and received the Rookie of the Year Award, being the youngest playerin history. LeBron James wasone of only three rookies toaverage 20 points per game during the 2003-04 seasons. Though, most already seen LeBron Jamesplay, many still doubted him. With his ' sophomore" year approaching in the NBA, he goes on to winning Best Breakthrough Athlete ESPY Award in 2004.

Fowarded inhis next season 20-year-old young man, averaging 27. 7 points, 5. 9 assist, and5.

5 rebounds per game. Is what many and I consider agree that he is greatest of all time? Yes I said it, but let's leave that Jordan and LeBron talk for another day. So, when LeBron James, goes to have the best two seasons by any NBA player in history he is defiantly ready for more. At this point in his career LeBron James or now known as "the king" had become a freight train that wasn't going to stop. He now shredding up stats and leading his team two another build up year in 2005.

Exceeded during the 2006-07 season, when James guided Cleveland to the franchise's first NBA finals after the Cavaliers upset the favored Pistons in the Eastern Conference finals, the Cavaliers were swept by the Spurs in the NBA finals, but James's impressive postseason play led many observers to place him among the very best players in the league. He led the NBA in scoring during the 2007-08 seasons and earned first team All-NBA honors, but the Cavaliers lost to the eventual champion Celtics in a dramatic seven-game series in the Eastern Conference semifinals. James piloted the Cavaliers to a team-record 66 wins during the 2008-09 seasons, which helped to earn him the league's Most Valuable Player award.

But coming up short and losing to the Spurs, he now has a lot to think of. Many knew, LeBron needed a change and it wouldn't be a change Cleveland won't like. After becoming a free agent in 2010, he would be joining the Miami Heat for the upcoming season. He finished second in the league, scoring 26.7 points per game. James competed in the Olympic games for his third time in 2012, in London.

His team consisted of other all stars in the NBA such as: Kevin Durant, Carmelo Anthony and Kobe Bryant. The team brought the gold to the USA for the second consecutive time. At the end of the 2012-13 season, against the San Antonio Spurs, Miami transformed a seemingly impossible championship win into reality, winning their second consecutive national title with a 3-4 victory. James' team ' Miami Heat' won the NBA championship for two consecutive years from 2012 and he was declared NBA Most Valuable Player, which he had been winning for two years already. While the 2013-2014 season didn't end the same way as the previous two seasons did for the Miami HEAT, there were still plenty of positives to take away, as the HEAT became just the third franchise to reach four consecutive NBA Finals.

The 2014 NBA Playoffs began with a familiar foe for the HEAT, the Charlotte Bobcats. In what was an otherwise wacky first round across the league, Miami swept Charlotte in a series that was closer than it indicated. Next up for the HEAT were the Brooklyn Nets, a team they didn't beat during the regular season.

Naturally, all the talk leading up to the second round matchup was predicated around that, but LeBron James made sure to make that talk obsolete. This time around it would be different since the Pacers earned the No. 1 seed, and thus had home court advantage. The pacers would be taking down though, and the heat would go on and loose again to the spurs. Having LeBron returning to the Cavaliers was a shock to the world. Averaging 25.

3 points per game and 1,743 points total, LeBron James proved to be one of the league's most dominant offensive players during the 2014-2015 season.

“ Cleveland Cavaliers: LeBron James is the first player in NBA Finals history to lead teams in points, assists and rebounds for the entire series,” according to ESPN. In reference to their quote, James had averaged 35.

8 points, 8.8 assists, and 13.3 rebounds across his past six games. Once again LeBron James is left with another empty result for all his hard work and dedication he has put up until that point. At this point he has gone through his 6th final he now is 5-1. With his 2015-2016 year comes up he, then sees a light and with the help of a new and improved Cavaliers go to end up winning a title. Not only is this a great accomplishment but this was the first NBA title ever. He now as you can see living proof that LeBron James has gone through a lot.

This was a great milestone for him. Now that James had just become the first player in NBA history to average a triple-double in the NBA Finals after scoring 41 points with 13 rebounds and eight assists in Game 5 on Monday night. James ended the series averaging 33.6 points, 12 rebounds and 10 assists but suffered the fifth Finals loss of his career as the Golden State Warriors clinched the title with a 129-120 victory. Even though he lost LeBron is really the only contender to be considered better than Michael Jordan.

He has gone through a lot but you can see he has much more. Who is LeBron James you may ask still, he is a super athletic and humble man. He has become an idol to many and has done many things no NBA players have done. He has put an explanation point towards the way he plays. His statistics are only getting better and accomplishments will grow more. In conclusion, Lebron Raymone James now averages 27. points, 9.

3 steals and now 250lbs. he still isn't stopping so watch out for LeBron James. He is or if not the best player in the world, and will continue his streak to the finals. The career he's having is now his prime and he has many years left.