George Washington's Life Biography Paper Michael Rose Dr. Rea "If freedom of speech is taken away, then dumb and silent we may be led, like sheep to the slaughter (Washington)." George Washington is a well-known person in the USA history. He is mostly known for being a war General and for being the first President of the USA. While, alive Washington did a lot more to help the United States grow. Now, Washington was born on February 22, 1732. His family lived in Virginia and were very rich.

His family owned tobacco plantations and owned plenty of slaves.

Washington's dad was named Augustine Washington and his mom's name was Mary Ball Washington. Washington had 5 blood siblings and 3 step siblings. His dad remarried with Jane Butler because of his previous wife dying. George Washington was the oldest child of Augustine and Mary. Then, Washington had to have an education when he was young. George Washington was mostly homeschooled. After class George Washington learned about his family's plantations.

Augustine died when George Washington was eleven years old. His step-brother Lawrence took over the head of the family. When George Washington was 17, he got his first real job. He became a surveyor for Culpeper County, Virginia. Now, in 1753, George Washington became Major in the French and Indian War. In that same year he was deployed to Ohio Country Valley to see how strong the French was. In 1754, George "Washington received a commission as a Lieutenant Colonel in the Virginia Regiment. Lieutenant Colonel Washington successfully attacked the French camp near present Jumonville.

Lieutenant Colonel Washington built Fort Necessity but was forced to surrender it to overwhelming French and Indian forces (Alchin, 2017).” This means he had to move troops back and away from the fort. George Washington was serving under General Edward Braddock in the Battle of the Monongahela. Sadly, Edward and his troops were surprised and ambushed by the enemies.

In 1755, “ Governor Dinwiddie appoints Washington as commander in chief of all Virginia forces with the new rank of colonel (Alchin, 2017).” While a colonel Washington was not very active. In 1758, he had the Forbes Expedition. It was a huge success and pushed the French troops away from Fort Duquesne. “ In the same year, the colonel was denied commission being a British officer. Since he failed, George Washington became a planter and politician (Alchin, 2017).

” Finally, George Washington got married to Martha Dandridge Custis. “ Their attraction was mutual, powerful, and immediate. Martha was charming, accomplished, and, of course, wealthy.

George had his own appeal (Mount Vernon Ladies’ Association, 2017).” George is huge compared to Martha. He was over six foot two inches tall compared to his wife being only five feet tall. George Washington’s military actions and leadership built himself a good reputation with people. Most widows make binding contracts, but Martha decided not to make a contract. She said, “ for as long as she lived Washington would have the use of Martha’s “ widow’s third,” the land, slaves, and money which would be handed down to the Custis heirs (Mount Vernon Ladies’ Association, 2017).”

Martha's first husband died about eighteen months before she married George Washington.

" George Washington was commander in chief of the Continental Army during the American Revolutionary War (History. com Staff 2009)." Congress made George Washington take over the Continental Army. At that time, General Washington had little experience leading many troops. Unfortunately, General Washington lost more battles than he won. George Washington did make an amazing strategy for war against the enemy. George Washington used his new strategy to beat the British at the Battle of Trenton and Yorktown. " Washington's greatest wartime legacy was his decision to surrender his commission to Congress, affirming the principle of civilian control of the military in the new United States (History.

com Staff 2009)." General Washington led his army to victory against the British. " In 1789, 69 members of Congress cast their ballots to elect George Washington the first President of the United States (History. com Staff 2009)." His personality worked well with the nation's government. He was like most people who feared a monarchal government just like the Parliament. President Washington made sure the USA doesn't be like an European monarchy. While George Washington was President he made the White House.

The funny thing was that he never lived in the White House. He was the only President that did not live in the White House. George Washington also appointed Alexander Hamilton as the first Secretary of Treasury. Before Washington was the President there were no parties, but " a two-party political system was created because of a disagreement between Washington and Thomas Jefferson regarding the support of France during the French and English War (Sheppard Software).” George Washington was reelected in 1793. Everyone believed that George Washington was perfect to be President again. He supported the national bank. George Washington was also distant from the local common people.

Washington had to deal with the French Revolution almost happening. France wanted to drag the USA into war. Our country was in big trouble. “

Washington announced his Neutrality Proclamation.

He declared that the United States would not take sides (SparkNotes 2017).” British troops said they were going to get off the land but they stayed in the forts. The French believed we needed to fight and aid them against the British. Both the French and British threatened to mess with American trading ships. This would have really hurt the economy.

President George Washington had to deal with all these opinions. He is now known as a “ Founding Father” because of what he has done to help America get through all the bad times.
