Recommendation for an employee

Our Chinese Fast Food Restaurant is very popular among people. Every day we serve hundreds of customers. They prefer our restaurant because we offer a varied cuisine as well as excellent service. We have a lot of regular customers which we know in a face. Our restaurant is visited by foreigners, and we do our best to make them feel comfortable here.

Liuting Yang has been working in our restaurant for 2 years. We appreciate her for her hard work. Here are the results we pointed out during Yang's work. She:

- Never mixes her personal life and work. At work, she thinks only about work. Is always self-collected, responsible.
- Understand that being late to work is not acceptable. If she has any problems with the health or other valid reasons not coming to work, she notifies your employer beforehand.
- Always looks tidily. Remembers that people judge about our restaurant looking at you.
- Is polite to customers. Meets and goodbyes them with a smile. Uses such words as " thank you, you are welcome" during your conversation.
- Doesn't let customers wait her. The time between customers entering the restaurant and she approach them should be no more than 10 minutes.
- Carefully remembers the customer's order, especially if it has any peculiarities.
- Knows our regular customers in face and remembers what they usually order.

- Isn't too pushy while ordering. At the same time helps with the advice.
- Doesn't let a mess on the table. Removes dirty dishes from the table as soon as they appear.
- Is always ready to talk with a customer if he wants to. Is open and avoids being incontestable.
- Is polite and patient to foreigners. Even if they speak neither Chinese, nor English tries to use a pantomime in order to guess what they mean.
- Is ready for additional work. Every month we have a cleanup day in which participates all the time.

While working as a cashier, is always very attentive with money. : Liuting Yang has good math skills and is able to count quickly and correctly. She never swindles and puts money into her pocket.

Customers and colleges have no complaints about her work. They characterize Liuting Yang as:

- Responsible and punctual;
- Strong and ready to work hard;
- Ambitious;
- Willing to work in and with a collective;
- Honest and fair;
- Open, communicative and friendly;
- Polite and conflict-resistant;
- Good-looking and without bad habits;
- Respectful towards employers.

All these personal qualities will help her to work profitable, move up the career ladder as well as feel at work as home.

We hire workers only of the highest quality. We have a lot of requirements to employees, but we also guaranty high salary and many additional payments.

We are interested in such workers as Liuting Yang. She is a good example of an employee whose work brings benefits both to her and the company she works for. Thanks to such employees our restaurant got a great reputation in the city and we maintain it year after year.
