

Speech against racism

Countries, United States

Racism in the United States of America Racism, what good has it done? Racism discriminates. Racism divides. Racism is sin! Why must I choose whom to befriend according to the colour of their skin? Is there anything written anywhere that makes one race above other? Who am I to judge other people? Aren't we all just little unique snowflakes, each to be judged on our individual and personally qualities? Those are some of the questions I ask myself again and again, yet I have got the answer to all of them. But there are at least two dissimilar answers to each of those questions. The answer depends on the individual's opinion about racism. Racists for sure haven't got the same answer as me. I hope your answers are similar to mine. In that case you've got the right answers! -Through the life you will have to answer thousands of questions and make millions of choices, and I can guarantee that you won't have the right answer every time just as you won't make the right choice every time, but when it comes to racism you must have the right answer! Too many people have already chosen the wrong decision. We don't need more racists in this world, so take your time and chose just the right decision! We have lot of people in America who are filled with hatred. Hatred pointed especially at Afro-American people. But where does all this hatred come from? I don't think God conceived hate, do you? Did God make us different just to see hatred and war? I don't think so. Why can't we carry out Martin Luther King's dream about a world in peace and without any kind of racism? Martin Luther King was Afro-American, but it isn't merely the Afro-American people, who can be exposed to racism, everyone can, no matter what color your skin has. Hating people because of their color is wrong. And it doesn't matter which color does the hating. It's just plain wrong. We have to stay together in this great country we call America. There is not a black America and a white America and Latino America and Asian America - there's the United States of America. Yet we are all united, we are all Americans. We have to stand together through thick and thin, good times and bad times, war and freedom. Particularly war has had a great influence in the modern idea of racism in America, mainly the civil war back in 1861, where many people suffered. Many years have gone by, we are now living in twenty-first century, and yet, not everybody can get on with each other. After all what we have been going through together, racism shouldn't be able to exist. You know better, I know better, we know better. Together we can fight racism, but only together. So stick together with your fellow beings! I don't want to see hatred. I want to see charity! Think an extra time before you discriminate a person with another skin colour than yourself. Racism hasn't done any good, and it never will!
