Personally, considering my poor financial background, I have had my fair share of challenges especially in attaining my education. Despite the challenges that I encountered in my journey of life, I have always remained optimistic of becoming a lawyer and contributing back to the society, and have never despaired at any moment. Furthermore, these financial challenges, my involvement in soccer and swimming have offered great life lessons that have contributed positively in my character growth.

As a student, I have come across various challenges in school life and also at home, my parents are not rich, but they ensure that despite the status they give us the best. After clearing high school, I got a good grade, which could have enabled me be admitted to the university; however, my dream since I was young was to attend a private college since I thought this were the best colleges, which offered the best education. The major problem was that the fees were too high for my parents to afford, I received letters from different colleges, but I knew this was going to be tough since my parents could not afford. After several sad days of thinking that I will not manage to go to the college of my choice, my parents broke the great news, as we were taking our supper. They told me that there was a college that was offering packages and they were in a position to pay for me. I could not hide my joy, even though I knew that I could not board like the other students I still appreciated the effort they made to make my dream come true. I face several challenges as a commuter, since I have to work when am not in school In order to help my parents through paying my tuition and buying books.

My dream after graduating from college is to attend a law school, I have always admired the work of an attorney and therefore it has been my dream to become one. Moreover, my interest is to specialize in immigration or criminal law, many immigrants fail to seek legal advice since they are not in a position to pay for a counsel and that's why am willing to sacrifice in order I can be in a position to help all the immigrants who will be seeking my legal services.

I like sports since it has helped me to be physically fit and to keep myself busy when am not studying; moreover, it has helped me to be disciplined and confident, I have always liked swimming since I was little; I always hoped that one day I would join a swimming team. As I grew older I managed to join a swimming team, but the first days were very frustrating to me since I could not match up with the rest team members, I even reached a point of giving up and even I wanted to quit. However, my instructor guided and supported me and within several days, I had become faster than most the rest team members and I told myself that I never give up in anything and I will always have a positive attitude if I want to achieve something.

Through swimming classes and playing soccer, I have learnt how to manage my time and especially during my exams, I have managed to divide my time for all the activities that I have to undergo everyday like swimming, playing soccer, studying and spending time with my family. I appreciate the swimming lessons I took and playing soccer since they have helped become a responsible person and every time I plan to achieve something, I always ensure that I achieve it no matter the obstacles.
