

Business going green - tesla motors

Literature, Russian Literature

The thought of the current effects we experience together with the prediction of those that are yet to come instills fear and turmoil in almost everyone's mind. Although many remain adamant of air pollution and its effects, others have taken it very seriously to try and save the little that is left of the human habitat. As part of this initiative and the desire to be ethical to the society many companies are now 'going green'. We are going to focus on Tesla Motors as one of the leading companies.

After the collection of facts and data, I will be able to come up with a proper analysis of the Impact Tesla motors will have in making our environment greener if it succeeds. From this, I will provide appropriate recommendations and a conclusion on the research.