About us

Vision: A healthy global society

Mission: Improve the health of the public and achieve equity in health status.

What we do: (Functions)

The American Public Health Association (APHA) is one of the oldest and most diverse organizations in the professional public health field. Established in 1872, the organization has worked relentlessly to improve public health in America. APHA aims to advance the general health of all American families and communities. The organization is at the forefront of initiating efforts aimed at progressing the prevention as well as the reduction of health disparities among the American public. It does this through the creation of a public health collective voice, working to make sure that health care is easily accessible to all citizens, protecting the funding accorded to core health
