

Social responsibility psycholo gy essay

ASSIGN BUSTER

In order for a business to survive in today's society, they have to have a sense of responsibility as it relates to ethics and social responsibility.

In 2012 more businesses are becoming increasingly aware that in order to succeed they must be socially aware as it relates to the environment and ethical leadership and integrity of its leaders. What is social responsibility?

Social responsibility is defined as "an ethical ideology or theory that an entity, be it an organization or individual, has an obligation to act to benefit society at large. Social responsibility is a duty every individual or organization has to perform so as to maintain balance between the economy and ecosystem. Nova HealthCare is a HealthCare company whose mission is to provide exceptional health care to its patients and the communities it serves. Our first step towards social responsibility is to take a look at the way business is currently being done.

By taking a self-look at environmental considerations in order for Nova HealthCare to become socially responsible with regards to the environment is for Nova HealthCare to review its current policy and procedures and decide what if any changes or adjustments should be made. Nova HealthCare currently does not specifically address environmental considerations. Recommendations and considerations: Review and develop Nova HealthCare mission and vision statement and code of conduct. Recycling program. Carpooling options for employees. Community involvement. A2. Ethical Leadership In order for Nova HealthCare to succeed at its social responsibility goals its leaders must exemplify those ethical standards throughout the organization.

It is imperative that the leaders of Nova Healthcare practice what they preach in regards to ethics and ethical behaviors. Establishing ethical standards Establish ethical code of conduct and standards for all employees to adhere to.