

Fresh set of challenges

Education

My zeal to explore events that occurred throughout history has facilitated my learning curve. As a sophomore student, I plan to transfer to a university next fall. My goal is to obtain a position in corporate American post-graduation in which I can implement the analytical, critical and social skills I have acquired. The main purpose of this club is to assist people in developing their keen interest in law enforcement and create channels that can enable them to have a fulfilling role in their respective fields. Commerce is one of those fields that truly gives a person an enriching experience in their life. Working at a local restaurant enables me to micro manage employees, which is truly a wonderful opportunity for me to gain valuable experience.

I firmly believe that my academic education along with engagement at a local restaurant is critical towards my pursuit to obtain my education that not only will harness my growth in professional development but will enable me to gain a better sense of the commerce that govern society. As a dedicated student, my work ethics along with my superb leadership skills have become the catalyst for my academic success. Although I don't possess a degree yet, I look forward to a fresh set of challenges that I will have to overcome not only as a student but as a young adult ready to explore the essence of the real world.
