

Business quiz answer

Business

Your Answer: culture Correct serve as a baseline for actions and decision making and guide employees in the organization's intentions and interests.

Your Answer: Values Correct Question: A company's Answer: mission Correct is its primary reason for existence. Your Question: The primary resource of all organizations is . Your Answer: employees Incorrect Question:

Organizational climates are Answer: counter-productive to Correct corporate cultures. Your Question: The process of collecting information about the external environment to identify and analyze trends is called: Your Answer: environmental scanning.

Correct is a function of the ability to learn and to perform according to changes in the environment. Your Answer: Organizational adaptability Correct Question: For many organizations, what customers value often becomes the company's: Your Answer: distinctive competitive advantage Correct Question: The final step in the basic planning process is Answer: controlling and evaluating the results Correct Question: Which of the following questions applies directly to the function of landing?

Your Answer: What do we want to accomplish? Incorrect Question: The step in the basic planning process would the statement 'This organization will capture 5% more of the product market in the next 2 years' focus upon: Your Answer: production schedules. Correct Question: The three levels of strategies are corporate, business, and . Your Answer: functional Correct Question.