Westminster Abbey London Protestant Pentecostal Defining Protestant Pentecostal Pentecostal or Classical Pentecostal is a renewal movement within Protestant Christianity that places special emphasis on a direct personal experience of God through the baptism with the Holy Spirit. The term Pentecostal is derived from Pentecost, the Greek name for the Jewish Feast of Weeks.

For Christians, this event commemorates the descent of the Holy Spirit upon the followers of Jesus Christ, as described in the second chapter of the Book of Acts. Brief Overview Pentecostal emerged in the early 20th century among radical adherents of the Holiness movement who were energized by revivalism and expectation for the imminent Second Coming of Christ. Believing that they were living in the end times, they expected God to spiritually renew the Christian Church thereby bringing to pass the estimation of spiritual gifts and the ventilation of the world.

In 1900, Charles Pariah, an American evangelist and faith healer, began teaching that speaking in tongues was the Bible evidence of Spirit baptism. The three-year-long USA Street Revival in Los Angeles, California, resulted in the spread of Pentecostal throughout the United States and the rest of the world as visitors carried the Pentecostal experience back to their home churches or felt called to the mission field. While virtually all Pentecostal denominations trace their origins to USA Street, the movement has experienced a variety of visions and controversies.

An early dispute centered on challenges to the doctrine of the Place Of Worship Summary It is certainly understandable that even a very earnest and sincere seeker after truth would be confused over the religious situation today, with hundreds of denominations, sects, and cults in Christendom alone, as well as hundreds more in other countries and cultures, and with new religious movements arising almost every day. Nevertheless, God has provided adequate instruction for us to enable us to “ know the spirit of truth and the spirit of error” (1 John 4: 6) if we really want to do so
