WalmartCase Study:

Walmart is one of the greatest chains of the department stores in the USA and Canada. The chain of the stores belongs to the American Walmart corporation and offers a great number of goods for its customers. The bosses of Walmart tried to understand the necessities of the average customer of the country and wanted to concentrate all the required wares in one place.

Supermarkets are big enough to offer goods for all tastes and all kinds. One can purchase not only food, meat, vegetables and fruits but also cooking appliances, various nick-necks and even clothes. There are special sections dedicated to different kinds of products and customers can easily find the required block of the supermarket. The corporation is planning to broaden the chain of the department stores considerably and introduce its supermarkets in every country of the world. There are already friend companies which cooperate with Walmart in the UK, Australia, Germany, India and China and it is not the end.

Walmart gain its popularity due to the idea to concentrate all kinds of products in the one place, no wonder, when after the World War II the first department store was opened, it attracted the attention of the public at once. Today there are thousands of the similar chains of the department stores in the world but Walmart is considered to be the pioneer in this field.
