I am writing this letter to express my sincere interest in your sub-internship program in General Surgery at the University of Washington Medical Center in Seattle Washington. I am an ECFMG certified Medical Graduate from a highly reputable medical school, Vardhman Mahavir Medical College & Safdarjung Hospital in New Delhi, India. The University of Washington Medical Center is one of the premier and highly reputed institutes in the country.

are well known for your famed quality of care, education in an immensely diverse community. Currently, I have gained one year of clinical experience in the United States and two years in India since my graduation in 2016 from medical school. Recently, I have completed a one-month observership in transplant surgery at the University of Washington. Throughout my time here, I have attained an immense amount of experience attending floor and grand rounds with multiple specialist teams, attending case presentations, morbidity and mortality conferences, and observing procedures such as the region's first "Liver in a Box" transplant. Research is one of my I strongly believe I have the intellect, talents and attributes that the sub-internship program is looking for in an ideal candidate. This training will enhance my knowledge and skills for future residential opportunities.

During my residency experience, I hope to enhance my clinical expertise in addition to expanding my skills in research and administration. After completion of my residency training, I plan to seek a position where I can teach and conduct research. I am particularly interested in the University's clinical research articles. Research is one of my strongest subjects. I am currently writing a review article on "The Safety of Sub-Cutaneous Heparin as Deep Vein Thrombosis Prophylaxis in Renal Transplant Patients". I know this opportunity would leave me with a great level of experience and integrity as it will shape my future as a general surgery resident in the University of Washington.

Thank you for considering my candidacy application for the sub internship program here at the University of Washington Medical Center. Kindly let me know what further information I can provide to
