

Impact of passions in life

ASSIGN BUSTER

Three passions, simple but vigorous, have made an impact in my life: love for soccer, affection for money, and craving love. These passions have carved the path I have walked and will continue for my life's Journey. For one thing, I have always had a passion for soccer; first, because it brings inspiration—inspiration is a great feeling that I would take chances for the rest of my life, for many hours of this revelation. I find that soccer seems to follow me, even in my dreams.

I always see myself in the biggest soccer stadium in the world and just breathing and playing soccer. "Goal: The Dream Begins" is a soccer movie that has made the biggest impact in my soccer career mainly because the movie was so inspiring to watch. This movie seemed like a reality because the main character in the movie had such motivation and desire for the game of soccer. Nowadays, soccer is making a bigger impact in my elite, and the reason is seeing all the professional soccer athletes training hard in practice and working hard in games. Soccer will always be my passion, and this inspiration for this sport will help me continue in my life's journey. In addition to being inspired in soccer, I feel as if the affection for money helps me stay on track on my life's journey. My passion for money makes me think more positively and makes me strive to get more. For me, buying certain things such as clothes, food and health products always make me have a positive mindset because I realize that hard work pays off. I feel without hard work towards money I could never have a positive mindset and fantasize about doing good things with my earnings.

I know this passion to get money helps release energy, and it doesn't make me too stressed, but instead it makes me dream and helps me talk about what to do next with my money. I feel having that affection for money helps me appreciate things and makes a positive determination on my life's Journey. Craving love has always been attainable, for it can bring positive relations with people and the world. Loving someone or something is a great feeling, and having that genuine passion for love can create positive things.

I believe in karma, and doing meeting with good intention for a person or thing will come back and help you out. I feel if I love then later in the future karma will come around and bring a definite smile on my face. Love can have a strong connection towards people, and I feel If I can love then that connection will guide me to a safe place and enlighten my Journey. So far, this has been my life's Journey. I have found It worth living for these three passions, and I would do It all again If the chance were awarded to me because these emotions so far brought a pleasure In my life.

For one thing, I have always had a passion for soccer; first, because it brings inspiration- inspiration is a great feeling that I would take chances for the rest of my life, for many hours of this revelation. I find that soccer seems to follow me, even in my dreams. I always see myself in the biggest soccer stadium in the world and Just breathing and playing soccer. " Goal: The Dream Begins" is a soccer movie that has made the biggest impact in my soccer career mainly because the movie was so inspiring to watch.

This movie seemed like a reality because the main character in s making a bigger impact in my life, and the reason is seeing all the professional soccer athletes training hard in practice and working hard in games. Soccer will life's Journey. Stay on track on my life's Journey. My passion for money makes me think more smile on my face. Love can have a strong connection towards people, and I feel if I So far, this has been my life's Journey. I have found it worth living for these three passions, and I would do it all again if the chance were awarded to me because these emotions so far brought a pleasure in my life.