It was just a holiday, but it changed my life. Holidays can be good for your health. You lie on a beach and relax, and tensions disappear. But sometimes a holiday can change your life completely, which is what happened 2 years ago to Victoria Smith and Sally Gook. Victoria Smith 6 years ago, was working as a manager at Next, a British chain store. Then she went on holiday to Bomeo.. " It was a working holiday", said Victoria, " where you could study orang-utans in the wild- I have always been interested in apes, so I thought it would be fun".

The holiday was wonderful, and when Victoria came home she found it very difficult to return to her old life. " Suddenly the problems in the store just seemed so trivial. Although everybody told her she was mad. she decided to go back to university and study biology. 4 years later she became a chimpanzee keeper. for the last 2 years Victoria has been working at monkey world, a centre in south-west england which looks after apes which have been ill-treated. Many have been rescued from laboratories and circuses all over the world. She works long hours, and the pay isn't very good, but she loves it. Apes are like a big family, each with their own personality'. ' I'm really happy now. Since I started working here I feel that I've been doing something important, not just wasting my life'. Sally Gook wakes up every morning to a deep blue sky and blazing sun. For the last 2 years she has been living on the tiny Greek island of Lipsi, which is only 16 square km in size and has a population of just 650. But until a few years ago she lived in Lonndon. ' I was working for American Express and I had to get up very early every morning, often in horrible weather, and get a train and the tube to work.

Then one day she and a friend decided they needed a relaxing holiday, and they came to Lipsi. ' I loved it'- the people, the mountains, the sun, and the delicious food. Suddenly I knew there was a different which has organized her holiday. Since then she has been living on Lipsi and working as a tourist guide. Her boyfriend, who is Greek, is a farmer. Sally said, I've only been back to London once, and I can't imagine ever living there again'.
