

Writing test 3 test questions

A disadvantage of using a sentence outline instead of a topic outline is that a sentence outline is oftentimes-consuming

. When assembling a writing plan for an essay, which of the following should come first?. Material that catches the reader's interest

To make sure your reader remembers the point of your essay, which of the following is most important? The ending

Parallel construction means that you use the same grammatical construction in all similar headings throughout an outline.

Where would you look to find an article on recent fashion trends? reader's guide

You've settled on an idea for an essay to write. What should you do next? Conduct interviews, do some research, ask questions, and make a plan.

The position from which you write about your subject is called your point of view

Once you acquire these two basic skills, you'll be able to transform a vague idea in your mind into a coherent piece of writing. Doing research and organizing your ideas

The Dewey decimal system is the classification system used by most public libraries in the United States.

You are least likely to feel that an Internet source is reliable if the information is posted without a specific source.

Where should you look to find quick information on the causes of the American Civil War? Encyclopedia

University libraries are _____ to the public. open

If you've located three books on a topic you're researching for an essay, the first thing you should do on appraising any of these books is examine the index

You've come across a book in the card catalog that you think will be useful in your research of famous labor leaders. What three things should you copy from the card so that you know how to find the book? The call number, the title, and the author's name

Which of the following skills is most important in learning how to write?

Knowing how to plan before you write

You need to write an essay about hot air ballooning. You know you've seen a good book on this topic, but you can't remember the name of the book or the name of the author. How could you most easily find this book in the library? Locate the subject card for the book in the card catalog

What is one problem you should keep in mind when researching information on the Internet? Information found on the Internet may be unreliable.

What do we call an idea that will make the reader take notice and want to read on? Hook

The ISBN number of a book gives you an international reference number.

Reference librarians are specially trained to help you research a topic.