Illegal Agreement Case Study:

Illegal agreement is the type of the agreement which can not be treated by the official jurisdiction as the regular one. Normally, every agreement is made between the two parties which have the definite duties and have to follow them because the terms of contract demand it. If one party fails to fulfill the terms mentioned in the agreement, it will be punished according to the law. Illegal agreement is a different thing, because in spite of the fact that there is the contract between two parties who have to fulfill their duties with responsibility, the validity or the juridical basis of the agreement is absent. Illegal agreements are most popular in the criminal world or between the people who are going to conduct an illegal action.

The brightest example of an illegal agreement is the contract for murder, where one side hires a killer who is going to murder the selected target for money. The agreement is legal between the parties but it is completely illegal in the official law. The same thing is gambling. If gambling is illegal, the loser has to pay the debt to the owner of the casino, just because he risks his health and life. But if one observes the case objectively from the point of view of the law, the gambler will not have to pay the debt, because the casino is illegal. Although, illegal agreements are not enforced by the court, the details and the definite parts of the contract can be considered to be the regular ones and the court can consider them legal.
