Food Festival in Pondicherry:

Perhaps the most exceptional among the Fairs & Festivals of Pondicherry, the French Food Festival is exciting and enjoyable at the same time. The festival is a high time for all those food buffs. Once the capital of the French India, Pondicherry carries the rich culinary tradition of the French. To pay tribute to this special art, the Tourism Department of Pondicherry organizes the ‘Gourmet’ – a food festival of its kind. Although it is basically a French Food Festival, cuisines from different parts of the world are also prepared and served. Different dishes, which are created are:-

- Hungarian Dishes
- Italian Dishes
- Mexican Dishes
- Spanish Dishes
- Indian Dishes

Famous Chefs, cooks, recipe writers, food experts and even amateurs cook and bring dishes made by them. One can have both non vegetarian and vegetarian dishes as well. Some of the eternal favorite non vegetarian dishes are:-

- Vanjaram or seer fish
- Shell fish French casserole – served with a type of pasta called spinach couscous.
- Ratha Sura Meen – red tuna fish served along grilled vegetables and mayonnaise potatoes.

Some of the popular vegetarian preparations are:-

- Rice pancakes with coconut stew
  - Stuffed spinach rolls along with root vegetables
  - Mexican Pasta with aubergine and tomato in curry sauce
- Some of the most wanted desserts are :-
- Litchi stew
  - Chilled peach
  - Khalia chocolate mousse

The above mentioned dishes are only like a few ‘ waves’ in the ‘ Sea of Food’.

There are lot more attractions at the French Food Festival in Pondicherry. Pondicherry was once a French colony. Even today, the lovely place has retained with pride a lot of features of its colonial rulers.

Pondicherry attracts plenty of tourists who love to take part in its various colorful festivals. Some are cultural, some are religious, and some festivals take the visitors on a gastronomic voyage.

‘ Gourmet’, a famous French Food Festival organized by the Department of Tourism in the month of August is a delightful experience for the tourists. It celebrates in a grand way the grandeur of French cuisine. Food lovers are offered a rare opportunity to explore the best of French cuisine and cuisines from across the world.

The French Food festival serves as a huge platform for foodies who can try out various culinary preparations ranging from Hungarian, Italian , French, Mexican, Spanish to Indian dishes. Some of the palatable dishes that flatter the taste buds of the fish lovers are Seer fish (vanjaram), Coconut stew served with rice pancakes, Red tuna fish served with mayonnaise potatoes and roasted vegetables.

Those who have sweet tooth, need not worry at all. The food festival serves desserts like Chilled Peach, Lichi Stew and Khalia Chocolate Mousse filled with chocolate pancakes are simply irresistible.
