

My clothes essay

When I was little had a pink floral Jumper, I wore it everyday. Let was my favorite. Looking back now it was just a Jumper. As a child I wasn't a pink princess loving girl. So why was this Jumper so special to me and why did I wear it so often? Today I'm fifteen surrounded by the influences of peers. I have a choice to wear what they wear or to choose my clothes based on my likes or dislikes. To be yourself in a world that is constantly trying to make you someone else is the best accomplishment-I want to be myself so I wear what I like. That usually consists of a pair of tracksuit bottoms and a top. And to be comfortable in what I wear so when go shopping I look for the fluffiest jumpers and the warmest socks. Guys look at me strangely as they look through the rack of harridan skirts, which are apparently meant to be skirts. So what do I want my clothes to tell people about me. I want them to think "wow, she's sensible" or "that girl isn't afraid to be herself". I don't want them to think "Oh dear there is a serious lack of material on that skirt" or "she nearly lost her pants that time" -When I look for skirts or dresses I don't want to pick up various pieces of material and say "Oh it's gorgeous" because I want to be modest. And to wear skirts and dresses that cover me-I want to know that I'm covered and that I'm not drawing attention to various parts of my body. A lot of people think that's weird. No, I am not amiss. I am just a fifteen year old girl who wants guys to be able to walk past me without looking away or covering their eyes. I want guys to like me for my character not my physical appearance. I don't lack confidence. I know I can look nice. In fact I palpably look "hot" in those harridan skirts, I don't feel the need to flaunt it. I have value you know.

When I'm looking for dresses I often feel the urge to go up to the staff and say "whereas the rest of never thought I'd be alive to see the invention of knickers shorts and hot pants, seriously why pay good money for shorts if you can go out in knickers and have the same effect. Let me say my short lifetime I've learnt a valuable lesson. The difference between genius and stupidity is genius has its limits. My clothes aren't the most important thing to me. I like to look pretty I like to have many dresses and tops but when someone says "what do your clothes mean to you? I don't really have an answer, because my clothes don't mean a lot to me but that I do when I'm wearing them does. You see the look and feel of that jumper didn't make it special. Let me say because it was in that jumper I learnt to ride my blue. I played in the crisp snow wearing that jumper. So you see I wore that jumper so often because all of those things made it special, all of those things made it my favorite. Shall I say once Gibbon said "Your clothes conceal much of your beauty but they do not hold the unfaithful". It's not what you wear that really matters but who you are. All the clothes money can buy will never hide what you truly are and they won't change that either. So we should try to change the bad things about us like the unkindness, sheepishness. We should say with Jarrod Klutz "I was going to change my mind but I changed my clothes instead". My Clothes By Massaging When I was little I had a pink floral jumper, I wore it everyday. Let me say today I'm fifteen surrounded by the influences of peers. Have a choice to wear what they wear or to choose my clothes based on my likes or dislikes. To be yourself in a world that is constantly trying to make you someone else is the best accomplishment. I want to be myself so I wear what I like. That usually consists of a pair of tracksuit bottoms and a top. I want to be comfortable in what I wear so when I go shopping I look for the fluffiest

Jumpers and the warmest socks. Girls look at me strangely as they look through the rack of harridans , which are apparently meant to be skirts.

So what do I want my clothes to tell people about me. ' want them to think " wow, she sensible" or " that girl isn't afraid to be herself". I don't want them to think " Oh dear there is a serious lack of material on that girl! " or " she nearly lost her pants that time". When I look for skirts or dresses I don't want to pick up various ices of material and say " Oh its gorgeous" because I want to be modest. ' want to wear skirts and dresses that cover me. ' want to know that IM covered and that IM not not amiss. M Just a fifteen year old girl who wants guys to be able to walk past me without looking away or covering their eyes. ' want guys to like me for my character not my physical appearance. I don't lack confidence. ' know I can look nice. Len fact I palpably look " hot" in those harridan skirts,' don't feel the need to flaunt it. ' have out in knickers and have the same effect. Len my short lifetime vive learnt a valuable what I do when IM wearing them does. You see the look and feel of that Jumper didn't make it special. T was because it was in that Jumper I learnt to ride my bike. ' played in the crisp snow wearing that Jumper. So you see I wore tat Jumper so often because all of those things made it special, all of those things made it my favorite. Kali Gibbon once said " Your clothes conceal much of your beauty but they do not hid clothes money can buy will never hide what you truly are and they wont change it either.