My travel experience During the first time I stepped on the plain I was so exited about it, but when the plane started to fly I cried because I was still 3 years old I was with my dad and my mom I had so much fun traveling then I told my dad can we travel every year he said okay then I became happier and my father kept his promise every year we go traveling in some parts of Asia like Taiwan, hong kong, Singapore, Cambodia, china, Malaysia , Thailand, Indonesia, Vietnam, and others it was so much fun because you get to see places that you never imagined and I felt so good about it.

Two years ago we went to Taiwan, with my father and my cousin during the plane ride our ears was hurting so much I really don't know why so I went to the washroom and checked maybe my ears where dirty but no I asked my daddy he said it was about some engines in the plane that makes you ears hurt.

We arrived at Taiwan early in the morning I was so sleepy then we had to hind our hotel(which was so comfortable and such a good place)then after another day we started exploring some beautiful places in like the garden, and Taipei 101 it was so high and it had the most beautiful view in whole Taipei. We only spent 1 week because it was sembreak only in October so I had missed Taiwan ever since. Then last year we went to India my country (that I still really miss so much) for ma little vacation during summer it really felt good to smell the breeze in the place where you (kainda) grow up.

Then i felt so good seeing my grand parent's again in such a long time and also some of my relative like my aunt and uncle but the days did no last long the day we are going back to the Philippines I cried so much because I didn't want to go back I wanted to live there but I cant myfamilyis here so I have to stick with them as well so every day I kept on calling to know how are they and kept on asking me how is my travel life.

My traveling life means everything to me because I cannot just stay in one place my whole life because you got a whole life to spend and I want to see the world with it because of what every one says life is too short but not for me because you have to embrace your life to be happy to experience everything that you did not know about the world the cause that is your life you have to live it in the fullest and not just by traveling one single country but all of it for you to see the world before it stops in a moment.

My traveling experience is not just by going to that place but to feel it you have got to see it feel it and do it to like then for you to have fun at the fullest that never stops for to have memories of what you have been doing your whole life and for you to have a long and good experiencing life with people you want to be with and people you never know that will become your friends so never think traveling is not just going to different countries but to embrace that country like it is yours.
