ASSIGN BUSTER

In my opinion, the school system is a load of crap. Just because I can memorize some useless information 10 minutes before a test and get an A, doesn't mean I'm smart.

There is so much more valuable knowledge out there that would also classify a person as "smart," rather than being able to identify fing rocks and minerals. We, as humans, are wasting all of our intelligence that actually has value and matters while we sit in these desks for 7 hours a day, stopping at nothing to see the letter "A" on our report cards. We're all just robots, only doing things when we are told, taking bathroom breaks only when we have permission, and eating food at strict and certain times.
