

The trails and tribulations of an essay

ASSIGN BUSTER

Judi MellickENG 101Mr Byars6/16/11Unit 3 SummaryThe trails and tribulations of an essay for me is not knowing enough about topic I can write about. I really struggle with trying to find something that I know that would not bore someone reading it.

I have been out of school 47 years and I don't remember writing an essay. I stress because I am not sure how it is suppose to be done. I am hoping to get better at essays, I keep trying but it just isn't coming into my head. I think I will be able to write an essay the right way after this class but for now I am having a very difficult time. I have a hard time on Mondays because I know the next essay is going to be on the assignment. I have used the smart thinking service and I will use it again this week, it really does help. I want to do well in this class so I just keep trying.

I think with the smart thinking I can get better. My APA format is not working on my computer for some unknown reason. The peer review is no problem for me I like to read them to maybe get an idea to do my own paper. There seems to be a lot of good writers in this class, they have very good topics to write about. I wish I had as many ideas as some in the class.