The definitive intent of my future career is to outline a pathway of aviation industry's goal achievements from a management point of view. I aim to help aviation sector to achieve a suitable balance between the airport decisions making and airline efficacy through studying Aviation Management. I strongly believe that this university will allow me to attain my goal.

My mind set to option for Aviation (Airport and Airline) Management while I met my early mentor, a friend of my brother who worked as an aviation manager, encouraged me to explore the opportunities in this sector. He along with the career counselors of my high school pointed me towards the right direction and helped to coagulate my decision. Also the combination of my career investigation made me realize that I will have plenty of other job gateways in numerous areas such as fleet management, international operations, customer services, pecuniary management and so on. I learned that I enjoy the rigorous thinking of aviation network which compels me to dive into this course.

I was engaged with a number of field visits and surveys which would further help me in this course. In the beginning of my secondary level I made a trip to Gautam Buddha Airport in Lumbini as my field visit to learn how the domestic flight system is controlled, there I helped some employees with baggage handling survey too. I advanced my critical thinking and decision making abilities throughout my higher studies in science faculty. I had a chance to study about the Global Aviation System, which provided me a global overview of aviation and most importantly I come to appreciate that aviation is unique from all the other fields. I have gained some ideas regarding the check-in, security point, and immigration procedure at the Civil Aviation Authority of Nepal which helped me to get the surface knowledge of data analysis, contention analysis, and developmental evaluation of the airline system. This prepared me gradually become intrigued towards the aspects of aviation industries.

The reason why I desire to study abroad in the UK is because British education and credentials have an imposing international reputation. With practice of brilliance dating back hundreds of years, world class institutions in every corner and much more clarity in its education line, the UK has a lot to offer students than other English-speaking nations. I feel that being exposed to a new culture, with its varied thoughts and outlook, will help me to understand all of the things that I have learned about with a new perspective.

In order to accomplish my objective, it is imperative for me to gain a sophisticated and wide knowledge of all aspects of aviation industry. I learnt about this university many years back as my pal introduced and told me about the wide opportunities they offer. Thus, the undergraduate Aviation (Airport and Airline) Management program at your university is the best course for me because this course will not only allow me to obtain essential skills like specialized management and internal research but also help to hone my logical abilities and inspire me to visionary ideas for the coming future.
