Paraphrase

The UAE is among the few countries in the world that provide education that is inclusive of all features of education in the world. The Emiratis receive free education from nursery school to university level. The positive economic development in the Kingdom coupled with population growth made leaders and the government to take the need of investing in Education passionately. The kingdom took an initial step of sending qualified students outside the country to gain University education under government sponsorship.

Building of more than enough private and public universities within the UAE has eliminated the need of sending students outside the country. Parents have remained with minimal choices on sending their children outside the country to gain primary and secondary school education. Private primary and secondary school are deemed to equip students with better education knowledge and English skills that warrant admission of students to UAE universities. The UAE Universities are putting a lot of value on good command of English among students, leaving parents with no choice apart from taking their children to private primary and secondary schools to attain good level of English.

Paraphrase

Taking children to private schools comes at a cost; money is spent on tuition while students completing school will have low command in Arabic and heritage because schools resources are dedicated on educational matter than on cultural practices. Children who attend public school face the risk of gaining average command in English and poor standards of education that might not warrant their admission to higher level of education institutions. Children in public school gain good command in Arabic language and cultural heritage.

The number of parents taking children to private school is increasing with the increasing chances of such students proceeding to tertiary institution within the UAE. Extra classes in English are required by 95% of students attending public school to improve on their level of English. Moreover, students in public school are required to study a two-year course in IT, which discourages parents on taking their student to public schools. The culture of parents taking their children to private schools and the bad quality of educational in public school seems will be changing in the future.
