

Love and arrange marriage

Family, Marriage

There is always a thought in mind that love marriages don't last much or they are the best because of the couples understanding built before entering marriage. But it is nothing related to the marriage type when it comes to knowing each other and understanding levels. The understanding can be built if you have faith and trust apart from flexibility among the couple. Love marriage has the same benefits as arranged ones.

Due to the time duration of knowing each other, couples have understanding which develops during their love affair. Because of this reason, many arrange marriage couples feel the lack of time duration which forms a base for developing understanding levels. But it is nothing like that to think about. They too develop good understanding which can be better than love marriage couples. Love and marriage are inseparable from each other in any kind of marriage.

Just the time factor can't be the major reasons behind the success of marriage. Arrange marriage couples also have success in their marriage and comparison is just a way to deteriorate your own relationship. Be confident of your love and never let the thought of comparing love among these two marriage types enter your mind. If the proximity, understanding and love is low in any of these marriages, then it will end gradually and the reason should not be the type of marriage.

Marriage like two sides of a coin comes with advantages and disadvantages. These are not dependent on the marriage types but the partners. So married couples, stop comparing love marriage vs arrange marriage and search for new ways to develop relationship with your spouse and not sticking to the question of which type of marriage is best for you. Leave the love marriage vs arrange marriage fight.