

Now i know

Literature, Poetry

Now I Know By: Jose Paulo Tolentino
Seven months felt like seven year
And now I face my greatest fear
Why before I could never wait but now I know the heavy weight. In a strange world, a mad city, it is tough to be an adult
you take responsibility to bear frustration and insult
There are days I would like to die life is not pretty as it seem
Leave this and what do I redeem?
Many I have learned is just a lie they say
I should create a goal
Love and life is what you make it but somehow it just could not fit all
I have is a hollow soul
From here I don't know where to go being an adult, now I know.

Submitted by: Ivan eris abadilla
Elements of poetry on the poem:
1. Voice = the author is the speaker in the poem.
2. Sound Alliteration = repetition of the same sound in different words.
Rhyme = sounds agree, they're pleasant to ear.
= in the poem, the 1st stanza consist of aabb, 2nd is abab, 3rd- abba, and the 4th for abba,
3. Stanzas = the poem here consists 4 stanzas and 1couplets (short stanza).
4. This poem has rhythm too.
About the author:
Jose Paulo Tolentino, based on the internet, he is a 21 years old student who was studying at the Rizal technological university (Mandaluyong City), taking up Business Management. He likes " surfing the internet, reading books and trying out new things".
* Information (source) * Google (the information was posted 20 oct, 2004
Submitted by: Abadilla, ivan eris i.