

Ciara favorite artist music

My most appreciated song on this earth today is “ Gimme Dat”, by Ciara. This is my most appreciated song because this song fits my personality. It has a combination and a justified amount of both dancing and singing. The song itself puts on a certain performance toward the listeners, and it gives meaning to the singer/songwriter. The style of this song is a very up-beat tempo; it’s a hip-hop song. It’s a song that Deejays would play in clubs and at parties; because people can actually feel the beat of this song and turn it into one of their own.

The artist of the song (Ciara) is a very well known artist. Ciara is one of the “ sexiest” female hip-hop & R&B artist that are alive and in action today. She has been making music, singing music, and even choreographing music with her artistic styles ever since 2002. Ciara is a great artist and I think that all her fans would agree with me on that. The song titled, “ Gimme Dat” is about Ciara coming back into show biz.

Ciara has been away for a while creating her new album, and when she got herself back into the spotlight, she started with this song to let people know that she’s back and ready to do anything. My favorite part of the song is when Ciara says: “ I been gone for too long, but its time to bring it back; gimme dat bass”! When Ciara uses these words together and then begins to dance right along with it it brings so much power to her video, song and performance.

That’s what I really like about music; the performance, the power of the song, the meaning, the routines to the song, etc. This is my favorite song because Ciara really puts joy and a shining light into my heart. She makes me feel like I can come right out and do what I want to do, make whatever I want to make and just give my fans the performance they need. I feel inspired when I listen to this song; because I love dancing, I love singing, I love goofing around and giving my audience/listeners something they would want to hear.

The song says: yeah, yeah, you like it when I move it to the beat like dat, got that bong up in your trunk, drop them speakers and turn it up, gimme dat bass"! This song just keeps me in my hype mode; it keeps me going every day. Every single moment I listen to it I'm either always dancing to it, singing to it or fantasizing about how great it would be to have been in that video or created my own, that's similar to it; but of course I would try to have the best song ever; and even though Ciara is great I think I can beat her to that one Grammy!
