

3 rules to spark learning

ASSIGN BUSTER

geek out To enthuse about a narrow topic, not realizing that most people listening will not understand a bit of it., To do geeky things; to act geeky; to speak of geeky things. demonstration a show or display

ON 3 RULES TO SPARK LEARNING SPECIFICALLY FOR YOU FOR ONLY $13.90/PAGE

Order

Now beaker An open cylindrical container with a pouring lip; used for mixing larger amounts of substances phenomenon A fact or event which can be observed and/or documented, A fact or event which can be observed and/or documented extend to lengthen scenario A narrative that describes a particular set of future conditions magnets always have two poles, The poles are the strongest part transcend (v.) to rise above or beyond, exceed inquiry A process of learning that starts with asking questions and proceeds by seeking the answers to the questions

dehumanizing depriving of human qualities

perplex To confuse evoke Bring or recall to the conscious mind.

robust booming what kind of subject is he teaching? chemistry what are the 3 rules to spark learning ?

- 1- curiosity comes first

- 2- embrace the mess

- 3- practice reflection