The Outside of My Inside Personality Every people in this world were born with their own fortune. Some blessed with good fortune but others hard to have it. I'm just a rainbow after the rain, one of the luckiest because I have given a chance to live in this world. I'm Jellie Ann Cedillo from Gabon, Abucay, Bataan. Turning 18 this February 6. I have one siblings, she is Janine Cedillo, she's older than me. My mother is Aida Cedillo and my father is Jose Cedillo. My father is currently working as a farmer while my mother is a plain housewife. We've encountered through trials and hardships. But I believed that these things are happened for a reason and a stepping stone for me to achieve my goals and plans in life. I remember my childhood life that I was played together with my sister. When I entered pre-school I was only 5 years old at Tomas, Pinpin, Memorial, Elementary, School. I am First Honor in our class, so that I received a gold medal. At the age of 6 years old I've entered my grade school year at the same school. School year 2001-2007. For me, highschool life is the best, and considered as one of the treasurable stage of being young. I've been through a lot of friends and teachers. With my friends sometimes we encountered some stupid things, misunderstanding and of course happy moments. When I was fourth year. I started to fall with someone who treated me special, so that I think he's the one for me but months ago we kept our relationships because of my strict parents. We've been together for almost seven months but sad to say they knew our secrets so that I broke up with him and I felt sorry for him, but I believed that if were meant to be, we will cross our destiny, and find our path someday. Vacation had finally hit the beat. No sign of stress and schoolwork's. Households chores was one of my task that assigned with me to do. I'm spending a lot of times in our house , reading books , solving puzzles , surfing internet , <https://assignbuster.com/the-outside-of-my-inside-personality/> watching TV , and movies. The days quickly passed, I'm gonna entered college soon. But for me I think I'm not yet prepared to be one. But I believe nothing's impossible with the one whose trying. When I turn in college, my life become to change because it is difficult to me to deal with other people and I cannot please anyone. I didn't expect that my subjects was very hard to understand so that I got failed in some of it. My world start to change again, new classmates for my back subjects and another happenings in class that I didn't expect to happened. I got to be loner when my peers got their own partners. Everyday of my life I was used my phone to refresh myself. I was contented to my life now because I have my old friend who always at my side to ease the loneliness. And I believed that without God everything is impossible. I'm very lucky to see and feel how really beautiful to live in this world. I'm here and I want to taste the sweetness of success and I'm hoping to be a successful Civil Engineer for the near future.
