

Career plan for the prospective the engineering manager

Engineering

ASSIGN BUSTER

In two years time, I can see myself as a graduate student of Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering at the University of San Carlos. In my two years left in college, I can achieve this goal by attending to all my classes in every semester, by listening attentively to my professor's lecture and by studying in advance so that I will have the upper hand advantage in class. I would also take up the 2 summer class I have left to speed up my education in college. I will continue to be active in extracurricular activities such as being in the swimming varsity team because of the extra credit and exposure I am gaining from it. I will also do my best and show my potential in work during my On-the-Job-Training so that I will have a good working record and gain referrals from seniors in the industry and that companies will prioritize my application when I apply. All of these will bring and guide me to my goal which is to finish my college degree with quality education and a good reputation.

In 5 years time, I see myself competing and building my way to the corporate world. In this time span, I see myself working in an oil company such as Saudi Arabian Oil Co., National Iranian Co., or any other leading company. This is an attainable goal because I am equipped with the knowledge and training needed to do this job when I was in college. I will be patient and positive in applying for these top oil companies, I will do my best in job interviews by attending seminars and gaining tips from human resource experts. During this span of time, I will aim for a promotion such as the position for engineering manager. I can achieve this goal by being proactive in work, apply what I have learned in school and by striving excellence in work so that the management will see that I am worthy of the promotion. I will avoid any workplace violations that would interfere with the promotion so that I can reach my goal within the time frame of 5 years.

In 10 years time, I can see myself as the engineering manager in a leading oil company such as Saudi Arabian Co., and National Iranian Oil Co., as stated above. By this time I see myself in a stable workplace and I have already started to build a name and reputation for myself in this industry. My aim for this time span is to move forward and be promoted as Deputy City Engineer. This position requires more responsibility and experience. Thus I will achieve this by participating in seminars and training suited for this position, gain new knowledge and insights from people who have experience in this position and by continuing to strive for excellence in the workplace. Because I believe that if we aim for excellence, success will always follow. I have a longer time span for this goal which makes it more attainable and measurable.
