

The internet or the world wide web

ASSIGN BUSTER

access provider business that provides individuals and companies access to the internet free or for a fee animation appearance of motion created by displaying a series of still images in sequence audio includes music, speech, or any other sound browser or Web browser application software that allows users to access and view Web pages cable modem provides high-speed internet connections through cable television network chat real-time typed conversation that takes place on a computer chat room is a location on an internet server that permits users to chat with others downloading process of a computer receiving information, such as Web page, from a server on the internet e-commerce short for electronic commerce, business transaction that occurs over an electronic network such as internet electronic storefront contains product descriptions, graphics, and shopping cart e-mail transmission of the message and files via a computer network e-mail address combination of a user name and domain name that identifies a user so he or she can receive internet e-mail FTP(file transport protocol an internet standard that permits the process of file uploading and downloading (transferring) with other computer on the Internet graphic-graphical image is digital representation of non-text information such as drawing, chart, or photograph homepage refers to the first page that a website displays http stands for hypertext transfer protocol, is a set of rules that define how much a page transfers on the web instant message a real time internet communications service that notifies you when one or more people are online and then allows you to exchange messages or files or join a private chat room with them

Internet also called the net-worldwide collection of networks that links millions of business, also called the net -worldwide collections of networks that link millions of business, government agencies, educational institutions and individuals hyperlink built-in connection to another related Web page or part of a Web page

IP address short for the internet protocol address, is a number that uniquely identifies each computer or device connected to the Internet

ISP(Internet service provider)regional or national access provider mailing listgroup of e-mail names and adress given a single name MP3fomate reduces an audio file to about one-tenth its original size, while preserving much of the original quality of the sound multimediarefers to any applications that combines text graphics, animation, audio, vedio, and/or virtual reality netiquetteis short for internet eiquette, and it is the code of acceptable behavior users should follow while on the internet newsgroups an online area in which users have written discussions about a particular subject plug-inis a program that extends the capabilities of a browser portalis a website that offers a variety of internet services from a single convenient location real timemeans that you and the people with whom you are conversing are online at the same time shopping cartallows the user to collect purchases subscribeto add your email name and address to a mailing list surfing the webrefers to the activity of using links to explore the web thumbnailis a small version of a larger graphic unsubscribe to remove your name from a mailing list uploading the process of transferring files from your computer to a server on the Internet.

video consists of full-motion images that are played back at various speeds

Web or World Wide Web (WWW) widely used service on the internet, consists of a worldwide collection of the electronic documents

Web publishing development and maintenance of Web pages

Web site collection of related web pages and associated items, such as documents and pictures, stored on the Web server

Wireless Internet Service provider (WISP) is a company that provides Wireless Internet access to users

World Wide Web Consortium (W3C) oversees research and sets standards and guidelines for many areas of the internet

ON THE INTERNET OR THE WORLD WIDE WEB SPECIFICALLY FOR YOU FOR

ONLY $13.90/PAGE Order Now Tags:

- World Wide Web