

The outsiders journal

Me and Johnny have been hiding from the police for a couple of days now. I'm sure Darry, Soda, and the rest of the gang are worried sick about us. I haven't gotten much sleep since we went into hiding, I am betting Johnny hasn't either because it is hard to get good sleep while your laying on the cold floor of an abandoned church and when you are thinking about everything that went on with our lives the past couple days.

Earlier today Johnny went to the store to get some food and supplies with the $50 dollars Dally gave us to live off of while we are hiding. Besides getting food, Johnny got me a copy of Gone With The Wind because he knew I love that book so much and he wanted me to read it to him. He also got some cards along with that because it gets really boring when you have to stay in a church most of the day and we needed something to do.

He also thought it would be a good idea to cut and bleach our hair, so people don't recognize us so easily. I didn't agree with him on it right away, but when I got to thinking about it, I saw his point. I really don't like this new look and I'm sure Johnny doesn't either, but it was probably a good idea.

Hopefully we don't have to stay in hiding much longer because I really miss Darry, Soda, and the rest of the gang. I also miss sleeping in my nice warm bed.