The first book shows how Bigger Thomas, the main character, is afraid of almost everything he does. He shows fear when he doesn't know what to do or when what he is doing is not right. When Bigger is scared he does things that he or any other person wouldn't normally do. He is afraid because Mr. Dalton and Mary both are giving him conflicting orders that put him in an impossible situation. Mr. Dalton orders Bigger to take Mary to school and bring her back but Mary demands him to take her and her boyfriend to the movies. If he gets caught not following Mr.

Dalton's orders he will get in trouble. If he does not follow Mary's orders, she may cause him to be punished. So, to cover up the mistakes that he has made he makes more mistakes that could cause him more harm. One of the mistakes that Bigger makes is killing Mary. His next errors of trying to hide this by dissecting Mary's body and burning it multiplies his troubles. Bigger fears that every move he makes will cause him harm or will get him fired from his job. He fears that if he doesn't do exactly what everyone tells him to he will be punished for it. An example of this is when Mr.

Dalton tells Bigger to drive Mary to college but Mary tells Bigger to drive her to the movies to meet her boyfriend. “ Well, he would drive her; that was what he had been hired for. But he was going to watch his step in this business. The only thing he hoped was that she would not make him lose his job. ” (64) In the quotes he says that he is going to watch his step, but he ends up not doing so and doing what Mary tells him to do even though he knows he should follow Mr. Dalton's directions. This causes him to give up is only hope, that she would make him lose his job.

When Bigger is scared or is afraid he does things that normally he wouldn't. A good example of this is when Bigger kills Mary by accident. Bigger has been scared from the time he has entered Mr. Daltons office in search of a job to the time that he throw Mary's remains in the furnace. This is when he makes the mistakes that cause him to fear what he has done and causes him to make another mistake. Another example is when Bigger kill his girlfriend Bessie because he doesn't trust and fear that she is going to rat her out.

Bigger's mistakes are what cause him to make more mistakes which cause him to fear more. Bigger is a person that is afraid when he feels that what he is doing is wrong but thinks it might be right. He knows it's wrong to disobey his employer's orders but thinks it might be okay to obey Mary's orders. He knows its wrong to kill Mary but he thinks it can be resolved by disposing of the body. SUMMER READING ASSIGNMENTS ESSAY PART 2B Brutality- Bessie's murder was incredibly violent. Following what appears to e rape (she repeatedly tells Bigger " No"), he beats her skull in with a brick, then throws her body down an airshaft. Compared with this horror, Mary's death is relatively peaceful. It is certainly unintentional-Bigger tries to keep Mary quiet & inadvertently suffocates her. Motive- Again, Bessie's murder was prompted by Bigger's compromised situation. He sees her as a liability, now that the police are chasing him. So her murder is a brutal, premeditated act. Mary's murder really has no motive, because he does not intend to kill her.

He is frightened at being discovered in her room, because he will be accused of rape if he is. The irony is that he kills Mary out of this fear, while purposefully killing Bessie after committing that very crime. Consequences- The consequences of Mary's murder are trial, guilty verdict, and eventually execution. It is the final culmination of Bigger's existence within a racist, white-dominated world. The consequences of Bessie's murder are perhaps the saddest, for there are no real consequences. Her body is merely displayed as evidence during the trial for Mary's murder.

Bigger is never charged with the crime of killing Bessie, which testifies to the injustice of the society.
