PROJECT PROPOSAL Project What is the Origin of Christianity? Cohort

Facilitator: James F. Cannon, D. Sc.

PROPOSAL:

What is Christianity? With more than thousands of Christian denominations found all over the world, answering this question is not easy. Gone are the days when the Catholic and Anglican denominations had the sole claim of being a “ Christian” churches, the Pope is no longer the most powerful person on Earth. Meanwhile, both the Anglican and Catholic churches are faced with controversies and declining that seek to destroy their very foundation.

The Catholic church headed by the Pope and the Anglican, more commonly called the Protestant church, must rediscover their common heritage in order to face the challenges of the future. In order to do that, it is important to know what Christianity is. And in order to discover the essence of Christianity, one must first understand its history.

PURPOSE OF THE STUDY:

This study hopes to discover the origins of Christianity. Its higher goal is to show Christians today what they have in common. Through a review of the history of Christianity, people from various religious denominations to discover the legacy of Christ and understand that this image of Christ is the representation of what we are striving for as species.

CASE DESCRIPTION:

This study will look at published articles and books detailing the history of Christianity - from its founding to its breakup roughly 500 years ago. It looks at the reformation and the rise of Protestantism in order to appreciate the characteristics of the new Catholic Church and the Anglican.
