

Chapters 1-3 for it

ASSIGN
BUSTER

false a webpage is a collection of related websites green computing involves reducing the electricity consumed and environmental waste generated when using a computer network a collection of computers and devices connected together, often wirelessly, via communications devices and transmission media false all security experts recommend disconnecting from the computer network before opening email attachments memory consists of electronic components that store instructions waiting to be executed and data needed by those instructions false you usually need to install web apps before you can run them true a hot spot is a wireless network that provides internet connections to mobile computers and devices 5 or 7 pounds a computer like the one in the picture weighs up to ---- software a series of related instructions that tell the computer what tasks to perform and how to perform them computer an electronic device, operating under the control of instructions stored in its own memory, that can accept data, process that data according to specified rules, produce results, and store the results for future use enterprise each employee or customer who uses a computer in a large business is what kind of user? you use an on-screen keyboard if a tablet has no keyboard, how do you type on it? facebook what is a popular social networking site its electronic components process data using instructions what is true about a computer? true a memory card is a removable flash memory, usually no bigger than 1.5 inches in height internet a worldwide collection of networks that connects millions of businesses, government agencies, educational institutions, and individuals digital literacy entails having the knowledge and understanding of computers, mobile devices, the Internet, and related technologies solid-state drive (SSD) if a manufacturer is looking for memory that is very durable and shock resistant, which kind of technology might it use in its laptops?

ARPANETThe internet has its roots in a network that became functional in 1969, linking scientific and academic researchers across the United States.

What was the name of that network? domain namethe text-based name that corresponds to the IP address of a server that hosts a websitefalselike an IP address, the components of a domain name are separated by commasfalsea lower bandwidth means more data transmitstrueweb developers often use FTP to upload their webpages to a web serverfalsefor watching HD streaming video for an hour, the approximate data usage is 3-6 MBtruemany browsers and websites don't require the http:// and the www portions of the web addressstruesmaller file sizes result in faster downloading of webpages because small files transmit more quickly than large filestrueonce you post media, you might be giving up certain rights to the mediasearch enginesBing, Google, and Yahoo! are all examples of web ---internet backbonethe major carriers of network traffic on the internetthe use of all capital letter is the equivalent of shoutingaccording to netiquette, internet users should assume which of the following? falseevery domain name contains a master domain, which identifies the type of organization associated with the domainplan the website, design the website, create the website, host the website, and maintain the websitethe five major steps of publishingtruemany publications such as airports, hotels, schools, shopping malls, and coffee shops are hotspots that provide wifi internet connections to users with mobile computers or devicesfalsea mobile processor is a type of software for computers and mobile devices that reads a users specified web feeds and collects their most recent contentIP addressa number that uniquely identifies the location of each computer or device connected to the internet educational website offers exciting, challenging avenues for formal and informal teaching and learning false an internet connection is not necessary for participating in e-commerce false VoIP is an internet standard that permits file uploading and downloading with other computers on the internet Broadband is a quicker connection and dial up connection is a slow connection. Popular broad band connections are cable internet service, digital subscriber line, fiber to the premises, wifi, mobile broadband, fixed wireless, and satellite internet service. how does a broadband connection differ from dial up connection and review the types of broadband connections up to 127 how many peripheral devices can you connect with a USB port? spam unsolicited mail messages personal computer usually has only one user server farm a network of several servers , like those in the accompanying figure, together in a single location? embedded computer technology featured in the trend known as the Internet of things windows an example of an operating system 300 short text messages sent via a message service are typically fewer than how many characters? notebook what is a portable, personal computer designed to fit in your lap false a brownout is a complete power failure pixel the smallest element in an electronic image tower server built into an upright cabinet that stands alone true UPS connects your computer and power source median not a type of kiosk blade server conserves space in a room universal serial bus USB under voltage occurs when the electrical supply or voltage drops, often defined as more than five percent, below the normal volts rack server housed in a bay within a metal frame bundled software not a hidden cost that a buyers guide refers to stylus an alternative to the use of your finger to enter data on a tablet like the one shown in the accompanying figureconnectorjoins a cable to a port ONCHAPTERS 1-3 FOR IT SPECIFICALLY FOR YOUFOR ONLY$13. 90/PAGEOrder NowTags:

- WiFi