Whether the philosophy/foreign policy of (Your Selected Country) facilitate cooperation or conflict? Whether the patterns of globalization in the country support the hyperglobalist, sceptics, or transformationalist view? Whether the country's winners and losers from the process of globalization are represented through the NIE, the SPG, the Outliers, or Feminist Economics perspective? And whether the phenomenon of globalization in the country has called for government intervention?

18 points

22 points

There is a good interpretation of Pakistan's philosophy.

Ideal identification of conflicting issues in the selected country.

There was also observance of relevant choice of examples of conflicts in Pakistan.

Lack of clarity in highlighting the different patterns of globalization in Pakistan, which support either hyperactive globalist, skeptics or transformationalist views.

Mention of representation of special groups (winners and losers) in required perspectives was not adequate. More examples are required in order to make the explanations offered clear.
