ASSIGN BUSTER

I love scientific experiments because it is only through them that I would get a solution for those illnesses such as malaria, tuberculosis, and AIDS in Africa. I am very well accustomed to the requirements and all the details concerned with the medical field. I possess excellent communication skills and maintain the highest health standards.

Apart from my academic qualification, I belong to a family that has been dedicated much to the medical profession. I have also made it my hobby to equip myself with more knowledge by reading books on medical research both in the lab and on traversed fields. The motivation from family level and upbringing has equipped me with more knowledge on this field and has made firm my interests in medical research. I hope with all these qualities that I will become a part of your highly esteemed team in your medical lab. I will be thankful if considered for entry in order to help society.
